

It's been a while since I last posted here, so I thought I'd share some writing news and a few new pieces.

First up, I'm happy to announce that my short story "The Last of Us" has been accepted by the online magazine Creative Writing.

"The Last of Us" is a post-apocalyptic tale about a woman who must choose between her love for her son and her desire to protect him.

I'm also working on a new novel, tentatively titled "The Last Stand".

This will be a continuation of the post-apocalyptic theme, but with a different focus.
